VALUE OF CONFERENCE MONEY. H a mun, take the Rie mond Esquirer, were adneed or ecaselled to heard ton thousand delsets of paper money for five years—to bury it in the cursis for that length of time-wenld be tons "greenbacks" or Centederate bills and onds? Which of these two species of essuries will be worth maney in five years ?

It is only marther form of asking-will the Yankee mation encoused, or will it fall, in the Hors to compaer and confiscate our country? If they are to succeed, their greenhacks are only for lighting our pipes. If they are to fail, will, are entered with an unerrise hand. then they must repudlate their whole war debt. and their grean bills are lass precious than the caves of the trees, while our cebt, incurred for the redemption of a great country, and guaranteed by the Government of a wealthy, provid and presperous young nation, will always be worth its denomination in coined gold. Now, which of there Tyco events is likely to lake place? Is this Confederacy to be subdued? Or is the Yankes sation to go into bankruptcy? We do not put it to the reader's patriotism-w appeal to his common sense only. Wa suppose a man directed, let us my, by the will of a whimmical tenistor, to buy ten thousand dollars in paper menoy for five years, without restriction as to which all the two carroucies he will selest for his heard, and we suppose him absolately indifferent as to the fale and fortunes of either country, desirous only of one thing-to dig up his money in gold after five years.

We de not believe that any reasonable person. capable of saim judgment, would beliate in one moment. He would board the Confederate paper. If he had in his hards ten thousand dollars in Yankse paper he would buy Confederate bills with them-and he could get forty just final of ten thousand greenbacks. He would choose, not because he is a patriot, but because (ex hypothesi) he is not a feel. He knows that the watter will never own those lands of owen to secure their debt upon, and consequently that we, the Confederates, self own them and have and held them to us and our bairs forever, with all our boundless scources, with the unfettered and triumphant industrial system which can so amply develope those resources, and with a national credit and prestigs which we count afford to tarnish; and probably he guthered up soon. shall bequeath all this treasure of fame and fortune to anether generation which must be prouto pay the cost, sind grateful to their fatbers for Tale, we say, is not merely the patriotic view; it is the economic stack-broking, money-leading, the meanist populary view that can be taken of the subject; and we have not yet met any person of intelligence and forethought who McEnstry, Colonel Waters, and Opposin R. ed. of Gen.
